The Era operational desk systems is designed to address the various needs and expectations of employees throughout the day with its modern storage units, and the shelved cabinets that offers a sitting area to the user.

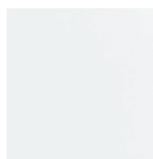

The growing importance of renewable energy resources and their areas of use in today's world made it inevitable for natural materials to be used in products like furniture that we interact at all times. Starting with this mentality, Era offers human-oriented, functional and permanent solutions to its user with each member in its family.
